

Project Impact Report

DUE Tuesday, September 1

Project Title: Community in Concert

Project Leader(s): Hannah Noh, Sean Antongiorgi

Numbers Reached From your project: 480

- Direct Impact: 324

- Briefly list what qualifies as a direct impact participant for your project:

Senior citizens living in residential homes (ages 65+)

- Indirect Impact: 156 people

- Briefly list what qualifies as an indirect impact participant for your project:

Student musicians that submitted a video (ages 5-20)

Followers on instagram of Volunteers: 80 # of Video recitals: 11 Total Hours: ~1hr per recital (11hrs total)

Social Impact:

Describe how your project positively impacted members of the community who are underserved or lacking access. max. 200 words

Senior citizens are often separated from society, experiencing loneliness and neglect. Community in Concert has helped to ease the pain of isolation for senior citizens especially at a time where social contact has been harder to come by than ever. Our recitals were specially made to provide a sense of connection with the viewers, each one carefully curated and hosted with original videos to speak to the audience. In addition, these concerts contained the work of dozens of passionate musicians for seniors to look forward to every week.

In a time where people are so separated from one another, our project connected varied members of the community through music. From inspiring student musicians to give back with their art, to bringing that excitement and light to the senior homes, our project has touched the lives of a broad group of people, one recital as a time.

Statistics:

COMMUNITY IN CONCERT

Connecting senior homes with student musicians

300+ SENIOR CITIZENS

AGES 65+

80 STUDENT VIDEOS

AGES 5-20

12 SENIOR HOMES

ACROSS SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

11 VIRTUAL RECITALS

10+ HOURS OF STUDENT PERFORMANCES

1 WEBSITE

AN UBER FOR VOLUNTEER RECITALS

JOIN US

COMMUNITYINCONCERT.ORG