Through Producing A Better Future, we brought music production to the members of our community in order to promote self confidence and expression. For many people, it can be hard to find ways to be authentic and have the self-confidence to express who you are. While we have found music can be a limitless medium, through our Producing a Better Future project, we wanted to make music more accessible to those who may not have the same access. Therefore by combining music with technology, we are able to increase the overall accessibility.

In our project, we provided members of our community with technology, mentorship, and the resources needed to create their own songs, and explore their own creativity. We ran three camps working with autistic adults, elementary students, and high school students showing them how to create their own songs using a wide range of instruments. Through our camps, every participant was able to walk away with a collection of songs, but most importantly an experience. Participants learned that they were able to express themselves, and had the confidence to create their own songs how they wanted. Self confidence and expression can be hard concepts to achieve, however through our project we have shown that it is attainable.
